John is a self-described "average guy" who lives in a small town in the Midwest. He started making videos as a way to connect with other people and share his thoughts on life. Little did he know that his videos would resonate with millions of people around the world.

In this interview, John talks about his journey from regular Joe to viral video star. He also shares his thoughts on the power of social media, the importance of being yourself, and the lessons he's learned along the way.

Q: John, thanks for taking the time to talk to us. Can you tell us a little bit about yourself?

A: Sure. I'm John Rose, and I'm a regular Joe from a small town in the Midwest. I'm married with two kids, and I work as a truck driver. I started making videos as a way to connect with other people and share my thoughts on life.

Q: What inspired you to start making videos?

A: I've always been interested in filmmaking, and I thought it would be a fun way to share my thoughts and ideas with others. I also wanted to connect with other people who might be going through similar experiences.

Q: Your videos have resonated with millions of people around the world. What do you think it is about your videos that appeals to people?

A: I think people appreciate the fact that I'm just a regular guy who's not afraid to share his thoughts and feelings. I'm not trying to be anything I'm not, and I think that authenticity comes through in my videos.

Q: What are some of the lessons you've learned from making videos?

A: I've learned a lot about myself and about the world through making videos. I've learned that it's important to be yourself, and that there are people out there who will appreciate you for who you are.

Q: What advice would you give to someone who is thinking about starting a YouTube channel?

A: My advice would be to just go for it. Don't be afraid to share your thoughts and ideas with the world. You never know who you might inspire.

Q: What's next for you?

A: I'm just going to keep making videos and sharing my thoughts with the world. I'm also working on a book about my experiences as a regular Joe who became a viral video star.

Thank you for your time, John.

It was a pleasure talking to you.
