Chapter 1: Choosing the Right DFS Site

The first step to winning at DFS is choosing the right site. There are dozens of DFS sites out there, each with its own unique features and rules. It's important to do your research and find a site that's a good fit for your playing style and budget.

Here are some things to consider when choosing a DFS site:

- Game variety: Some DFS sites offer a wider variety of games than others. If you're interested in playing multiple sports, make sure the site you choose offers the games you want to play.
- Entry fees: DFS sites offer a variety of entry fees, from free to high-stakes. Choose a site that offers entry fees that fit your budget.
- Prizes: The prizes offered by DFS sites vary widely. Some sites offer large guaranteed prize pools, while others offer smaller prizes but with more frequent payouts.
- Customer service: It's important to choose a DFS site with good customer service. If you have any questions or problems, you want to be able to get help quickly and easily.

Once you've considered these factors, you can start narrowing down your choices. Here are a few of the most popular DFS sites:

- DraftKings

- FanDuel
- Yahoo! DFS
- FantasyDraft
- Monkey Knife Fight

Each of these sites has its own unique strengths and weaknesses. It's important to do your research and find a site that's a good fit for you.

Chapter 2: Creating a Winning DFS Lineup

Once you've chosen a DFS site, it's time to start creating your lineup. This is the most important part of DFS, and it's where you'll put your football knowledge to the test.

Here are some tips for creating a winning DFS lineup:

- Do your research. The more you know about the players and teams involved in a game, the better equipped you'll be to make good lineup decisions.
- Consider the matchup. When choosing players for your lineup, it's important to consider the matchup they'll be facing. A player who is facing a tough defense may not be a good choice, even if they're a star player.
- Look for value. Don't be afraid to roster players who are undervalued. These players can often provide you with a lot of upside for a low price.
- Balance your lineup. Your lineup should be balanced between high-upside players and safe players. High-upside players have the potential to score a lot of points, but they also come with more risk.

Safe players are less likely to score a lot of points, but they're also less likely to bust.

Creating a winning DFS lineup is a skill that takes time and practice to develop. However, by following these tips, you'll be well on your way to putting together lineups that can win you money.

Chapter 3: Managing Your Bankroll

One of the most important aspects of DFS is managing your bankroll. This means setting a budget for yourself and sticking to it. It's also important to avoid chasing losses. If you lose a few games in a row, don't try to win back your losses by entering more contests. This is a surefire way to lose even more money.

Here are some tips for managing your DFS bankroll:

- Set a budget for yourself. The first step to managing your bankroll is to set a budget for yourself. This budget should be based on how much money you can afford to lose. Once you've set a budget, stick to it.
- Don't chase losses. If you lose a few games in a row, don't try to win back your losses by entering more contests. This is a surefire way to lose even more money.
- Take breaks. If you're on a losing streak, it's important to take a break from DFS. This will help you clear your head and come back to the game refreshed.

Managing your DFS bankroll is essential to long-term success. By following these tips, you'll be able to avoid going broke and give yourself a chance to win big.

Chapter 4: Using Advanced DFS Tools

There are a number of advanced DFS tools available that can help you improve your game. These tools can provide you with data and insights that can help you make better lineup decisions.

Here are a few of the most popular DFS tools:

- Player projections. Player projections are a great way to get an idea of how players are expected to perform in a given game. This information can help you identify players who are undervalued and players who are overvalued.
- Ownership projections. Ownership projections show you how many people are expected to roster a particular player. This information can help you avoid players who are too popular and find players who are being overlooked.
- Matchup analysis. Matchup analysis tools can help you identify players who have a good matchup in a given game. This information can help you find players who are likely to score a lot of points.
